

Peel Children's Centre supports the work of other community agencies that deliver primary services to children who have been diagnosed with ASD by providing additional specialized services. Referrals are accepted from these agencies. These services can include assessment(s) by our psychologists and/or psychiatrists. Parents may contact Peel Children's Centre directly for service if a child has been diagnosed with ASD and is presenting with additional mental health issues or behaviors that are not directly related to this diagnosis. Brief family counseling may also be provided where other family stressors are impacting the parent's ability to implement prescribed strategies.
